

Professional Development Hours (PDH)

New for the World Congress: Professional Development Hours for Delegates

Your attendance at the 15th World Congress and ITS America's Annual Meeting will entitle you to earn up to as many as 23 Professional Development Hour (PDH) units. Many engineering and related licensure and certification agencies around the world require the demonstration of continuing professional competency that is met by the range of technical, scientific, executive, special, concurrent, and plenary sessions you attended in New York.

Professional Development Hours Tracking Form

We are pleased to offer you a special 15th World Congress on ITS Professional Development Hours Tracking Form to help monitor your session attendance. Using this form as a guide, visit our Professional Development Hours website to calculate and print out documentation to submit to the appropriate licensure and certification agency. This will be your documentation that you attended each session and also give you the number of PDHs that were earned for attending the session.

Remember that you will need to save your record of attendance and the entire Final Program of the World Congress and Annual Meeting for your records should the licensure or certification agency request information from you. Reporting is done on an honor basis, and members are responsible for maintaining their own records.